Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claims Rejection Under 35 USC - 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 8, and 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Swab et al (6,769,767) in view of McManigal (5,327,178).

Swab et al discloses eyewear with exchangeable temples housing a transceiver forming AD hoc networks with other device which comprises a frame 24 for holding the lenses, a pair of temples 19, 20 extending rearward from the frame, first and second speakers 60 and 62 mounted to the first and second temples respectively, so as to be translatable in a forward to rearward direction generally parallel to the temples over a first range of motion, at least one of the size of the speakers and the first range of motion being configured to provide an effective range of coverage of about 1 1/4 inches, an audio file storage and playback device disposed within the first ear stem, 52 a power storage device disposed in the second temple at least one button 50 disposed on the first temple.

Swab et al does not teach that the first and second mounting mechanisms are configured to allow the first and second speakers, respectively, to pivot about first and second predetermined pivot axes that are parallel to the first and second linear path.

McMangal however, discloses the first and second mounting mechanisms are configured to allow the first and second speakers, respectively, to pivot about first and second predetermined pivot axes that are parallel to the first and second linear path (see figures 4, 5, 9, 11a and 11b.)

Because Swab et al and McMangal are both from the same field of endeavor, the purpose of selecting the positions of the speakers to suit the individual needs and comfort of the wearer as disclosed by McMangal would have been recognized as an art pertinent art of Swab et al.

It would have been obvious, therefore, at the time the invention was made to a person having skill in the art to construct the eyeglasses device, such as the one disclosed by Swab et al, with the first and second mounting mechanisms are configured to allow the first and second speakers, respectively, to pivot about first and second predetermined pivot axes that are parallel to the first and second linear path, such as disclosed by McMangal for the purpose of selecting the positions of the speakers to suit the individual needs and comfort of the wearer.

Claims Rejection Under 35 USC - 103

3. Claims 5-7 and 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Swab et al (6,769,767) and McManigal (5,327,178) as applied to claims 1-4, 8 and 11-14 above, and further in view of Vogt et al (5,606,743).

Swab et al and McManigal discloses the claimed invention as stated above with the exception of a volume control.

Vogt et al, however, discloses radio eyewear comprises a volume turning control are included with the receiver compartments 6 and 8 (see column 5, lines 20-22.)

Because Swab et al, McManigal and Vogt et al are all from the same field of endeavor, the purpose of controlling the volume of the speaker as disclosed by Vogt et al would have been recognized as an art pertinent art of Swab et al and McManigal.

It would have been obvious, therefore, at the time the invention was made to a person having skill in the art to construct the eyeglasses device, such as the one disclosed by Swab et al and McManigal, with a volume control, such as disclosed by Vogt et al for the purpose of controlling the volume of the speaker.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Examiner Dang at telephone number (571) 272-2326.
